POSITION SUMMARY

The Habitat Restoration Manager will work with the Director of Habitat Restoration as well as local, state, and federal partners to conceptualize and implement projects to protect, restore, and/or enhance native coastal habitats in and around the Galveston Bay estuary. This position specifically focuses on the restoration of estuarine ecosystems such as oyster reefs, intertidal marsh, and bird rookery islands, as well as the creation of living shorelines.

KEY DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

- Manage habitat restoration projects from conception through implementation
 - Conduct site assessments and develop project design
 - Develop permit applications and coordinate with regulatory agencies to secure necessary state and federal permits/leases
 - Secure and manage subcontractors for surveying, engineering, and other contractual services necessary to complete projects
 - Monitor and assess restoration efforts to maintain permit compliance and identify potential need for adaptive management
- Manage GBF's Living Shorelines Initiative including consultation with landowners, community outreach, and coordination with partners such as the TX General Land Office
- Provide financial oversight for projects and programs including management of budgets, preparation of grant proposals, and management of grant contracts
- Assist with and lead field activities related to GBF's conservation programs & community events

QUALIFICATIONS

The ideal candidate is a self-directed project manager with experience in the coastal environment. The position is well-suited to someone who can manage multiple projects independently and enjoys a combination of project management duties and field work.

Required qualifications include:

- Bachelor's degree in environmental science, natural resource management, or a related field
- 2-3 years of project management experience in environmental science or a related field
- Field work experience, particularly in the coastal environment/on the water
- Strong interpersonal skills, including the ability to develop and manage productive relationships with staff, partners, and the community
- Ability to work on multiple projects at once, meet deadlines, and adaptively manage projects and programs
- Proficient with Microsoft Office software (Outlook, Word, Excel, PowerPoint)
- Basic knowledge of ArcGIS products

Preferred qualifications include:

- 3-5+ years of project management experience in environmental science with a focus on coastal resources and/or habitat restoration
- Knowledge of environmental rules and regulations and experience with state and federal permitting processes
- Experience operating field equipment such as a handheld GPS and a drone
- Experience driving/operating trucks, trailers, and boats
- Experience writing and managing state and/or federal grants

The position will remain open until filled. Only qualified applicants will be considered. To apply, email cover letter and resume to jobs@galvbay.org. Please reference position title in subject line of email.
